

Everything Fits

Dwyer fits assisted living residences.

Today's seniors are more active than ever and want their residence to be as much like home as possible – no matter what size it is. Attractive, fully functional kitchens can be an important draw for new residents as well as a way to keep current tenants satisfied. Dwyer offers flexible, high-quality ADA compliant kitchens and cabinets that make the most of small spaces while delivering style, sustainability and enhanced indoor air quality.

By choosing from Dwyer's full range of versatile kitchen components for assisted living developments, you can:

- Deliver full functionality in a smaller space – reducing the kitchen footprint and maximizing the rest of the living space, in keeping with the overall trend toward smaller living spaces
- Fit kitchen components into virtually any existing space – which helps you avoid expensive, time-consuming reconfigurations of existing plumbing and electrical connections during renovation projects
- Reduce energy costs and lessen the environmental impact of a construction project
- Meet ADA requirements and other state and local accessibility guidelines

- Be assured that your cabinets will not only look good on day one, but also can be re-faced multiple times to retain a “like new” appearance
- Contribute to indoor air quality and reduce your risk of liability from tenants experiencing “sick building syndrome” or an allergic reaction to building materials
- Be satisfied that your initial investment will more than pay for itself

Dwyer steel and thermofoil cabinets are GREENGUARD Indoor Air Quality Certified® as low-emitting interior building materials – in addition, they received the GREENGUARD for Children & SchoolsSM Certification, the most stringent standard for building materials that considers heightened sensitivities to chemical emissions. Our eco-friendly materials can help you gain LEED points in the U.S. Green Building Council's rating system for commercial developments.

Dwyer also offers the best warranty in the business – and an all-in contract with no surprises, including a price guarantee to prevent project overruns.
